

John Foley, Chief Financial Officer, DSA

John Foley is an accomplished leader, skilled at envisioning, selling and deploying process improvement initiatives and leading broad organizational change. In his capacity as CFO, John is responsible for the management and direction of the company's accounting, finance, contracts and procurement functions.

John was most recently employed by CIGNA Corporation as Business Finance Officer for CIGNA's Shared Service functions including finance, human resources, legal, public affairs, executive management, government regulations, real estate, and other services.

He has spent much of his career at Lockheed Martin Information Systems and Global Services where he held a variety of positions including Finance Transformation Director, Pricing Director, Accounting Manager, Post-M&A Integration Project Manager, and Proposal Specialist. He also previously worked for eBay (Half.com) as Senior Business Analyst, Business Intelligence.

John has a Bachelor of Arts in Communication from Rutgers and an MBA in Finance, also from Rutgers. Additional professional development includes Harvard Business School, Darden Business School, and Lockheed Martin Executive Strategies Program.